Gospel Reflection – John 2:13–22

In today's Gospel, we see a side of Jesus that may surprise us — a passionate, zealous Jesus who drives the money changers and traders out of the Temple. His actions are bold and dramatic, but they are also deeply purposeful. Jesus reminds those gathered that the Temple is not a marketplace, but the dwelling place of God — a sacred space meant for prayer, reverence, and communion with the Father.

When the disciples see His zeal, they recall the Scripture, "Zeal for your house will consume me." Jesus' love for His Father's house is total; He cannot bear to see it misused or treated without respect. Yet this passage is not only about the Temple building in Jerusalem — it also points to something much deeper. Jesus speaks of the Temple of His own body, foretelling His death and resurrection. In Him, God's presence is made known in a new and living way.

This Gospel invites us to look within ourselves. Our own hearts are now the dwelling place of God. We are, as St. Paul reminds us, temples of the Holy Spirit. Jesus calls us to cleanse our hearts of anything that clutters or distracts us from God — anger, pride, selfishness, or anything that keeps us from love.

As we journey in faith, may we ask the Lord to renew within us that same zeal for what is holy — to make room in our hearts for prayer, peace, and the presence of Christ who makes all things new. With every blessing, Fr Jerald

The Dedication of the Lateran Basilica — 8th and 9th of November 2025

First Reading Ezekiel 47:1-2. 8-9. 12

The angel brought me to the entrance of the Temple, where a stream came out from under the Temple threshold and flowed eastwards, since the Temple faced east. The water flowed from under the right side of the Temple, south of the altar. He took me out by the north gate and led me right round outside as far as the outer east gate where the water flowed out on the right-hand side. The man went to the east holding his measuring line and measured off a thousand cubits; he then made me wade across the stream; the water reached my ankles. He measured off another thousand and made me wade across the stream again; the water reached my knees. He measured off another thousand and made me wade across again; the water reached my waist. He measured off another thousand; it was now a river which I could not cross; the stream had swollen and was now deep water, a river impossible to cross. He then said, 'Do you see, son of man?' He took me further, then brought me back to the bank of the river. When I got back, there were many trees on each bank of the river. He said, 'This water flows east down to the Arabah and to the sea; and flowing into the sea it makes its waters wholesome. Wherever the river flows, all living creatures teeming in it will live. Fish will be very plentiful, for wherever the water goes it brings health, and life teems wherever the river flows. Along the river, on either bank, will grow every kind of fruit tree with leaves that never wither and fruit that never fails; they will bear new fruit every month, because this water comes from the sanctuary. And their fruit will be good to eat and the leaves medicinal.'

Responsorial Psalm 45

Response: The waters of the river gladden the city of God.

Second Reading—1 Corinthians 3:9-11. 16-17

You are God's building. By the grace God gave me, I succeeded as an architect and laid the foundations, on which someone else is doing the building. Everyone doing the building must work carefully. For the foundation, nobody can lay any other than the one which has already been laid, that is Jesus Christ. Didn't you realise that you were God's temple and that the Spirit of God was living among you? If anybody should destroy the temple of God, God will destroy him, because the temple of God is sacred; and you are that temple.

Gospel Acclamation :

Alleluia, alleluia! I have chosen and sanctified this house, says the Lord, that my name may remain in it for all time.

Alleluia!

Gospel—John 2:13-22

Just before the Jewish Passover Jesus went up to Jerusalem, and in the Temple he found people selling cattle and sheep and pigeons, and the money changers sitting at their counters there. Making a whip out of some cord, he drove them all out of the Temple, cattle and sheep as well, scattered the money changers' coins, knocked their tables over and said to the pigeon-sellers, 'Take all this out of here and stop turning my Father's house into a market'. Then his disciples remembered the words of scripture: Zeal for your house will devour me. The Jews intervened and said, 'What sign can you show us to justify what you have done?' Jesus answered, 'Destroy this sanctuary, and in three days I will raise it up'. The Jews replied, 'It has taken forty-six years to build this sanctuary: are you going to raise it up in three days?' But he was speaking of the sanctuary that was his body, and when Jesus rose from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they believed the scripture and the words he had said.
