First Reading

Ezekiel 2:2-5

A reading from the prophet Ezekiel

The people are rebellious; they shall know there will be a prophet in their midst.

The spirit came into me and made me stand up, and I heard the Lord speaking to me. He said, 'Son of man, I am sending you up to the Israelites, to the rebels who have turned against me. Till now they and their ancestors have been in revolt against me. The sons are defiant and obstinate; I am sending you to them, to say, "The Lord says this." Whether they listen or not, this set of rebels shall know there is a prophet among them.'

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 122. R. v.2

(R.) Our eyes are fixed on the Lord, pleading for his mercy.

1. To you have I lifted up my eyes,
you who dwell in the heavens:
my eyes, like the eyes of slaves
on the hand of their lords. (R.)

2. Like the eyes of a servant
on the hand of his mistress,
so our eyes are on the Lord our God
till he shows us his mercy. (R.)

3. Have mercy on us, Lord, have mercy.
We are filled with contempt.
Indeed all too full is our soul
with the scorn of the rich,
with the proud man's disdain. (R.)

Second Reading

2 Corinthians 12:7-10

A reading from the second letter of St Paul to the Corinthians

I will glory in my infirmities so that the power of Christ may dwell in me.

In view of the extraordinary nature of these revelations, to stop me from getting too proud I was given a thorn in the flesh, an angel of Satan to beat me and stop me from getting too proud! About this thing, I have pleaded with the Lord three times for it to leave me, but he has said, 'My grace is enough for you: my power is at its best in weakness.' So I shall be very happy to make my weaknesses my special boast so that the power of Christ may stay over me, and that is why I am quite content with my weaknesses, and with insults, hardships, persecutions, and the agonies I go through for Christ's sake. For it is when I am weak that I am strong.

Gospel Acclamation

See Luke 4:18

Alleluia, alleluia!
The Spirit of the Lord is upon me;
he sent me to bring Good News to the poor.
Alleluia!

Gospel

Mark 6:1-6

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Mark

A prophet is despised only in his own country.

Jesus went to his home town and his disciples accompanied him. With the coming of the sabbath he began teaching in the synagogue and most of them were astonished when they heard him. They said,

‘Where did the man get all this? What is this wisdom that has been granted him, and these miracles that are worked through him? This is the carpenter, surely, the son of Mary, the brother of James and Joset and Jude and Simon? His sisters, too, are they not here with us?’

And they would not accept him. And Jesus said to them,

‘A prophet is only despised in his own country among his own relations and in his own house’;

and he could work no miracle there, though he cured a few sick people by laying his hands on them. He was amazed at their lack of faith.

Communion Antiphon

Psalm 33:9

Taste and see that the Lord is good;
blessed the man who seeks refuge in him.

Yes, They will be hear on Saturday 27th July 2-3pm,
entry cost by donation.

MPWLC

The Mornington Peninsula Welsh Ladies Choir was formed in May 2018 In the south-east corner of Australia in the state of Victoria. Tom Buchanan OAM agreed to direct this new choir which quickly established itself as a welcoming, friendly community of singers who love working together, exploring the rich tradition of Welsh choral singing, and creating beautiful music. Under his expert guidance the 35+ voice choir has grown in stature and now performs regularly throughout the Mornington Peninsula and the city of Melbourne. What makes us a ‘Welsh’ choir is not that we sing in Cymraeg, the Welsh language, although this is part of what we do. More importantly, our choir is modelled on the iconic village choirs that have become so synonymous with Welsh culture. The history of Welsh ladies’ choirs extends a long way back, with one of the best known early examples being the Royal Welsh Ladies’ Choir. The RWLC was based in Cardiff and was active from the 1880s until the end of World War II.

We are proud to bring this choral tradition to the Peninsula and to add a new, antipodean chapter to its rich history

Have you thought?

Brothers of Jesus

The reference to the brothers of Jesus has caused a lot of controversy in the past and continues to do so. One opinion, now regarded as heresy, was that these brothers were the younger children of Mary and Joseph. Another argument, grounded in the apocryphal gospels of Peter and James, maintains that they were Joseph's sons by an earlier marriage. The view generally held is that they were actually cousins of Jesus. The problem appears to arise because of a problem in translation from one language to another. The original Aramaic word was translated into a Greek word for brothers, or brethren.

Gospel Reflection

This week's gospel sees Jesus returning to his home town of Nazareth. He is well and truly into his public ministry at this point in the gospel and his reputation is obviously growing as a healer and teacher. When he goes to Nazareth the locals are quick to 'put him in his place'. They remember the boy, the teenager, the young man apprenticed to his father's craft. He's a nobody as far as they are concerned; just young Yeshua (Jesus) who grew up here. It is much the same within families and local communities today. No matter how successful and authoritative a young woman or man may have become, a trip home will quickly remind them that in the eyes of those they grew up with nothing has changed. In the gospel passage they even say, that's Jesus – he's just James' brother; no one special! Why would they think they had anything to learn from a brat who grew up in their own town? What could he possibly tell them? They try to force Jesus back into the mould of the person with whom they were previously familiar and comfortable.

We do this to one another all the time. We have certain expectations about the way a friend normally acts or thinks and when they behave differently we react in a way that lets them know that they are not 'being themselves'. In doing this, we are looking to maintain our own comfort zone. We take away the freedom of the other person to grow and change. Many people seem to enter into relationships thinking that neither of them will ever change. This, of course, is an unsustainable assumption. Surely, if we want the best for those we love and care for, we want them to be constantly growing and becoming all that they can be?

Volunteering - Something we can all do.

This week we are asking for more readers at Mass. Yes, the Ministry of Lector is vital in the Church so as people hear the word of God.

We need you!

Yes, if you can read and even if you lack confidence, your confidence will grow with each read. So Please consider it.

KEEP THE FIRE BURNING! BLAK, LOUD AND PROUD

7-14 JULY 2024

NAIDOC 2024

Every year, on the first Sunday in July, Catholics come together across Australia to acknowledge and celebrate the gifts of Australia's First Peoples in the Catholic Church. The National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Catholic Council reminds us that NAIDOC week is one that unites First Nations peoples and all other Australians.

In Australia we are blessed to be home to the world's oldest continuing Culture and that's why we remember and celebrate this very important week in our Liturgical Calendar. Did you know that first Nations Catholics are the youngest and fastest growing demographic in the Australian Catholic Church.

The 2024 theme is "Keep the Fire Burning! Blak, Loud and Proud". The National NAIDOC Committee selected this theme to celebrate not only the survival but also the relentless spirit of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities. "Keep the Fire Burning!" is a nod to the vitality and endurance of culture, and a nod to connection with Country and community, while "Blak, Loud and Proud" represents an unapologetic celebration of identity.

NAIDOC History

1920s & 1930s

Before the 1920s, Aboriginal rights groups boycotted Australia Day (26 January) in protest against the status and treatment of Indigenous Australians. By the 1920s, they were increasingly aware that the broader Australian public were largely ignorant of the boycotts. If the movement were to make progress, it would need to be active.

Several organisations emerged to fill this role, particularly the Australian Aborigines Progressive Association (AAPA) in 1924 and the Australian Aborigines League (AAL) in 1932. Their efforts were largely overlooked, and due to police harassment, the AAPA abandoned their work in 1927.

In 1935, William Cooper, founder of the AAL, drafted a petition to send to King George V, asking for special Aboriginal electorates in Federal Parliament. The Australian Government believed that the petition fell outside its constitutional responsibilities.

On Australia Day, 1938, protestors marched through the streets of Sydney, followed by a congress attended by over a thousand people. One of the first major civil rights gatherings in the world, it was known as the Day of Mourning.

Following the congress, a deputation led by William Cooper presented Prime Minister Joseph Lyons with a proposed national policy for Aboriginal people. This was again rejected because the Government did not hold constitutional powers in relation to Aboriginal people.

After the Day of Mourning, there was a growing feeling that it should be a regular event. In 1939 William Cooper wrote to the National Missionary Council of Australia to seek their assistance in supporting and promoting an annual event.

1940-1955

From 1940 until 1955, the Day of Mourning was held annually on the Sunday before Australia Day and was known as Aborigines Day. In 1955 Aborigines Day was shifted to the first Sunday in July after it was decided the day should become not simply a protest day but also a celebration of Aboriginal culture.

1956-1990

Major Aboriginal organisations, state and federal governments, and a number of church groups all supported the formation of NADOC, the National Aborigines Day Observance Committee. At the same time, the second Sunday in July became a day of remembrance for Aboriginal people and their heritage.

In 1972, the Department of Aboriginal Affairs was formed, as a major outcome of the 1967 referendum.

In 1974, the NADOC committee was composed entirely of Aboriginal members for the first time. The following year, it was decided that the event should cover a week, from the first to second Sunday in July.

In 1984, NADOC asked that National Aborigines Day be made a national public holiday, to help celebrate and recognise the rich cultural history that makes Australia unique. While this has not happened, other groups have echoed the call.

1991-Present

With a growing awareness of the distinct cultural histories of Aboriginal people and Torres Strait Islanders, NADOC was expanded to recognise Torres Strait Islander people. The committee became known as the National Aborigines and Islanders Day Observance Committee, NAIDOC. This new name has become the title for the whole week, not just the day. Each year, a theme is chosen to reflect the important issues and events for NAIDOC.

During the mid-1990s, the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Commission (ATSIC) took over the management of NAIDOC until ATSIC was disbanded in 2004-05.

There were interim arrangements in 2005. Since then a National NAIDOC Committee, until recently chaired by former Senator Aden Ridgeway, has made key decisions on national celebrations each year. The national committee has representatives from most States and Territories.

Pope hopes to visit Türkiye for anniversary of Council of Nicea

In remarks to a delegation from the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople, Pope Francis expresses his hopes of travelling to Türkiye in 2025 to celebrate the 1,700th anniversary of the Council of Nicea.

By Christopher Wells

Pope Francis expressed his desire to visit the area of Nicaea in 2025 to mark the 1,700th anniversary of the first Ecumenical Council. "It is a trip I wholeheartedly desire to make," the Pope said on Friday morning, as he greeted a delegation from the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople, which is in Rome for the feast of Sts Peter and Paul, the founders of the Church in Rome. The customary visit is reciprocated by a delegation from the Catholic Church to Istanbul on the feast of St. Andrew, who tradition holds founded the Church at Constantinople.

The joy of fraternal encounter

In his address to the delegation, the Holy Father welcomed the opportunity "to experience the joy of fraternal encounter" and to bear witness both to the "profound bonds" that unite the two Churches and to the "firm resolve to progress together" towards the restoration of unity between them. Pope Francis highlighted in particular his numerous meetings with the current Ecumenical Patriarch, Bartholomew I, especially their encounter in Jerusalem in 2014 to mark the 50th anniversary of between Pope St Paul VI and Athenagoras I. Emphasizing the "journeying together" the Pope reaffirmed the commitment to towards full unity, integrity of the faith; "that dialogue be- sity arising from our poses no risk to the rather, it is a neces- and leading us to the an exchange of gifts fidelity to the Lord whole truth through guidance of the Holy Spirit." and under the

Prayers for peace

The Pope recalled, too, the peace ceremony in Vatican Gardens, which took place shortly after the meeting in Jerusalem. Together, Pope Francis and Patriarch Bartholomew welcomed representatives of Israel and Palestine "in order to invoke peace in the Holy Land, in the Middle East, and throughout the world."

"Present events have shown us the necessity and urgency of praying together for peace," the Pope said, "so that the war may end, the leaders of nations and the parties in conflict may rediscover the path to concord, and all parties come to recognize one another as brothers and sisters." He noted that this invocation for peace is extended to all conflicts, especially the ongoing war in Ukraine.

The way of love, reconciliation, and mercy

The need for hope in the world, at "a time when so many men and women are prisoners of fear for the future," suggested the motto for the upcoming Jubilee Year, "Pilgrims of Hope."

The Pope invited the Eastern Orthodox Churches to "accompany and support" the upcoming Holy Year with their prayers, "so that abundant spiritual fruits may not be lacking."

Pope Francis concluded his address with prayer that "the Lord might grant that we may continue to walk on the path that He points out to us, which is always the way of love, reconciliation, and mercy."

Jokes of the Week

1: Healed by laughter: “A cheerful heart is good medicine” (Prv 17:22).

In the 1300's, surgeon, Henri de Mondeville reportedly told jokes to his patients in the recovery room. Laughter exercises the face, shoulders, diaphragm, and abdomen. When the breathing deepens, the heart rate rises, and the blood takes up and transports more oxygen. Endorphins are released, pain thresholds are raised, and some studies suggest that even our immune systems are boosted. When we laugh, others laugh too. — Laughter is a contagious, highly effective, non-prescription medicine. It has no side effects, and no one is allergic to it. Have we had our dose of laughter today? We can use the tool of humour to induce laughter for our health, healing and general sense of well-being. We can even spend time in daily practicing our laughing out loud – maybe by smiling first, then leaning into a giggle, and then in outright belly laughs!

2: The hurricane prayer: A hurricane had struck. People were huddled together in a Church building for safety. A preacher was praying with great oratorical effects in the midst of this violent storm, crying out, “Send us the Spirit of the children of Israel, the children of Moses, the children of the Promised land.” At this, an old man with less oratory but more directness prayed, “Lord, don’t send nobody. Come Yourself. This ain’t no time for children.”

Parish Footy Tipping Competition

Last week was tough for our tippers. Our best were 10 who managed 6/9. On a tight leaderboard, Delina Franks joined Lachlan Jolly and Mel Fisher in the lead while Mary Lane and Maree O'Halloran are only 1 behind and 4 others just 1 further back.

Next weekend Naidoc week starts remembering First Nations people. The AFL has honoured the only indigenous Australian to umpire a professional game by starting a scholarship in his name awarded to an indigenous talent pathway umpire with the potential to umpire at an elite level. Do you know who the umpire is and who is the award named after?
