First Reading

Ezekiel 47:1-2. 8-9. 12

A reading from the prophet Ezekiel

I see water flowing from the temple and all who were touched by it were saved.

The angel brought me to the entrance of the Temple, where a stream came out from under the Temple threshold and flowed eastwards, since the Temple faced east. The water flowed from under the right side of the Temple, south of the altar. He took me out by the north gate and led me right round outside as far as the outer east gate where the water flowed out on the right-hand side. The man went to the east holding his measuring line and measured off a thousand cubits; he then made me wade across the stream; the water reached my ankles. He measured off another thousand and made me wade across the stream again; the water reached my knees. He measured off another thousand and made me wade across again; the water reached my waist. He measured off another thousand; it was now a river which I could not cross; the stream had swollen and was now deep water, a river impossible to cross. He then said, 'Do you see, son of man?' He took me further, then brought me back to the bank of the river. When I got back, there were many trees on each bank of the river. He said, 'This water flows east down to the Arabah and to the sea; and flowing into the sea it makes its waters wholesome. Wherever the river flows, all living creatures teeming in it will live. Fish will be very plentiful, for wherever the water goes it brings health, and life teems wherever the river flows. Along the river, on either bank, will grow every kind of fruit tree with leaves that never wither and fruit that never fails; they will bear new fruit every month, because this water comes from the sanctuary. And their fruit will be good to eat and the leaves medicinal.'

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 45:2-3. 5-6. 8-9. R. v.5

(R.) The waters of the river gladden the city of God.

1. God is for us a refuge and strength,
a helper close at hand, in time of distress:
so we shall not fear though the earth should rock,
though the mountains fall into the depths of the sea. (R.)

2. The waters of a river give joy to God's city, the holy place where the Most High dwells.
God is within, it cannot be shaken;
God will help it at the dawning of the day. (R.)

3. The Lord of hosts is with us:
the God of Jacob is our stronghold.
Come, consider the works of the Lord,
the redoubtable deeds he has done on the earth. (R.)

Second Reading

1 Corinthians 3:9-11. 16-17

A reading from the first letter of St Paul to the Corinthians

You are the temple of God.

You are God's building. By the grace God gave me, I succeeded as an architect and laid the foundations, on which someone else is doing the building. Everyone doing the building must work carefully. For the foundation, nobody can lay any other than the one which has already been laid, that is Jesus Christ.

Didn't you realise that you were God's temple and that the Spirit of God was living among you? If anybody should destroy the temple of God, God will destroy him, because the temple of God is sacred; and you are that temple.

Gospel Acclamation

2 Chronicles 7:16

Alleluia, alleluia!

I have chosen and sanctified this house, says the Lord,
that my name may remain in it for all time.

Alleluia!

Gospel

John 2:13-22

A reading from the holy Gospel according to John

He spoke about the temple of his own body.

Just before the Jewish Passover Jesus went up to Jerusalem, and in the Temple he found people selling cattle and sheep and pigeons, and the money changers sitting at their counters there. Making a whip out of some cord, he drove them all out of the Temple, cattle and sheep as well, scattered the money changers' coins, knocked their tables over and said to the pigeon-sellers, 'Take all this out of here and stop turning my Father's house into a market'. Then his disciples remembered the words of scripture: Zeal for your house will devour me. The Jews intervened and said, 'What sign can you show us to justify what you have done?' Jesus answered, 'Destroy this sanctuary, and in three days I will raise it up'. The Jews replied, 'It has taken forty-six years to build this sanctuary: are you going to raise it up in three days?' But he was speaking of the sanctuary that was his body, and when Jesus rose from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they believed the scripture and the words he had said.

Communion Antiphon

Cf 1 Pet 2:5

Be built up like living stones,
into a spiritual house, a holy priesthood.

gospel focus

The Temple

Jesus' attack on the misuse of the Temple is often interpreted as an attack on the entire Temple system that operated at his time. The Temple was the centre of Jewish faith and there was an entire hierarchy and politicised structure that surrounded and supported the Temple. This elite Temple class effectively ruled the manner in which people could pray and offer sacrifice. It is this distancing of everyday people from the opportunity to worship that Jesus was seeking to 'cleanse' from the Temple. The gospel makes clear that people do not need this structure to enter into a prayerful relationship with God.

Gospel reflection

A theme that runs throughout the gospel of John is that Jesus seeks to break down the institutions of the Jewish Temple and the gospel writer presents Jesus as the fulfilment and replacement of the Temple.

This theology actually harkens back to an earlier Jewish tradition, evident in the scriptures of the Old Testament, where the community itself is described as a 'holy building' or 'temple'. This image may have arisen from the fact that for so long the Israelites had no 'home' and they believed that God travelled with them wherever they went. Furthermore, once they did construct a Temple in Jerusalem in the 10th Century BCE, it was destroyed at the time the Jews were taken into exile in Babylon (587 BCE) and rebuilt later in the 6th Century BCE.

So, for many years, the Jewish people were familiar with the idea that the travelling community itself constituted the 'holy place' where God was present. The gospel of John was written 20 to 30 years after the destruction of the Second Temple by the Romans in the year 70 CE. For both the Jewish community and the early Christian community, the destruction of the Temple challenged the theology and the religious practice that had been centred around the Temple for the best part of 600 years. They had to think about a different way in which God was present in their midst. In the gospel of John, Jesus is presented as the one who fulfils and replaces the Temple tradition. Today's gospel, featuring Jesus 'cleansing' the Temple and making reference to the sanctuary being destroyed and raised up again in three days, is a crucial element of the gospel writer's development of this theme.

Historical Context – The Lateran Basilica

Today we celebrate the feast of the Dedication of the Lateran Basilica. The Lateran Basilica is the cathedral church of the Pope, who also holds the position of Bishop of Rome. It is considered the most important Catholic church because it contains the Cathedra Romana, the symbol of the teaching authority of the Bishop of Rome. The basilica was first dedicated in 324 after the property was donated to the Church by Emperor Constantine, the first Roman emperor to accept Christianity, at the same time we celebrate all churches throughout the world.

Have you thought? – Basilica?

What is a Basilica, and how does it differ from a cathedral or church? The Latin word originally simply described a public building. Once the Roman Empire adopted Christianity, the name came to mean a large, important church. So the term has both architectural and ecclesial meanings. Only the pope can declare a particular church to be a basilica. When this happens the basilica is given specific symbols and insignia that identify it as a basilica and of greater importance as a church building. There are approximately 1500 basilicas around the world,.

Pope at Audience: Christ's Resurrection brings hope to darkness of human history

At the Wednesday General Audience, Pope Leo XIV highlights that Christ's Resurrection can bring direction to our daily lives, fulfill our thirst for meaning, and transmit hope to the world. By Isabella H. de Carvalho

In his catechesis, the Pope reflected on Christ's Resurrection as "not an idea, not a theory, but the Event that is the foundation of faith." He emphasized that truly believing in the Resurrection in our daily life means revolutionizing how we live. This transformation can then help change "the world with the gentle and courageous power of Christian hope." "We can be His witnesses even where human history does not see light on the horizon," urged the Pope. "Paschal hope does not disappoint."

Lodestar in our chaotic lives

The Pope highlighted how in Christ's Resurrection "we find an answer to our thirst for meaning," especially when facing situations that seem unintelligible. "In Him, we have the assurance of always being able to find the lodestar towards which we can direct our seemingly chaotic lives, marked by events that often appear confusing, unacceptable, and incomprehensible: evil in its many forms, suffering, death, and events that affect each and every one of us," he said. "Faced with our fragile humanity," Pope Leo XIV continued, Christ's Resurrection "becomes care and healing, nourishing hope in the face of the frightening challenges that life presents us with every day on a personal and global level."

He explained how, "in the perspective of Easter," the Way of the Cross becomes the Way of the Light. He urged the faithful "to savour and meditate on the joy after the pain, to retrace in the new light all the stages that preceded the Resurrection." The Pope underlined how Jesus presents Himself in the Book of Revelation (1:17) as "the Living One" to show that His Resurrection is a current fact, visible in the daily life of every person.

Resurrection is not a distant event from the past

Christ's Easter "is an event that does not belong to a distant past, now settled into tradition like so many other episodes in human history," the Pope insisted. He noted that the Church teaches the need to make a "living remembrance" of the Resurrection by celebrating Easter every year and the Eucharist every day. "The Paschal Mystery is the cornerstone of Christian life, around which all other events revolve," he said, adding that "we can say, then, without any irenicism or sentimentality, that every day is Easter." "Hour by hour, we have so many different experiences: pain, suffering, and sadness intertwined with joy, wonder, and serenity. But through every situation, the human heart longs for fullness, a profound happiness," the Pope explained. To clarify this concept, he quoted St. Teresa Benedicta of the Cross (St. Edith Stein), who "delted deeply into the mystery of the human person," pointing out that "dynamism" comes from "the constant search for fulfillment."

She wrote that the human person "always longs to have being given to us anew, so that we can draw on what the moment gives us and at the same time takes away from us."

"We are immersed in limitation, but we also strive to surpass it," the Pope said.

St Macartan's Piety Stall

Hello Parishioners,

To the Visitors and Pilgrims, welcome to St Macartan's and we hope your time with us is enjoyable.

Believe it or not Christmas is only 8 weeks away. What great timing that the Christmas stock arrived this week and it is now on display on the large table outside the Gift Shop. With what we have sold already, I doubt the stock will last until the end of November.

Over the past few months we have tried to work out what stock would be required for the Christmas Fair, Christmas shopping and have ample stock for the hundreds of Pilgrims that will visit our Parish before the end of the Jubilee Year. I hope we now have the quantity and the goods to satisfy all.

The most popular items for the Pilgrims are the Jerusalem wooden plaques and Crucifixes, the Sterling Silver Crosses, Medals and Rosary's. We just can't get enough of these products. We are low on the plaques right now but a shipment has just arrived and we should have more stock just in time for the Pilgrims next Saturday. Hopefully they will love our Christmas stock.

If you haven't visited the Gift Shop recently please come along and have a browse. This Gift Shop is for you the Parishioners, and it won't cost you anything to have a look.

Columban calendars are due in this week so don't do what many did last year and leave it until we have sold out. Christmas cards are also on display so come and grab yours while we have them.

Jokes of the Week

#1) The Two Ushers: Six-year-old Angie and her four-year-old brother Joel were sitting together in Church. Joel giggled, sang, and talked out loud. Finally, his big sister had had enough. "You're not supposed to talk out loud in church" "Why? Who's going to stop me?" Joel asked. Angie pointed to the back of the church and said, "See those two men standing by the door? They're 'hushers.'"

#2) The gift of piety: A pious man, who had reached the age of 105 suddenly stopped going to synagogue. Alarmed by the old fellow's absence after so many years of faithful attendance, the Rabbi went to see him. He found him in excellent health, so the Rabbi asked, "How come after all these years we don't see you at services anymore?" The old man lowered his voice. "I'll tell you, Rabbi," he whispered. "When I got to be 90, I expected God to take me any day. But then I got to be 95, then 100, then 105. So, I figured that God is very busy and must have forgotten about me, and I don't want to remind Him."

#3) The gift of fear of the Lord: Do not ride in cars: they cause 20% of fatal accidents. Do not stay home: 1% of all accidents occur in home. Do not walk on the streets or footpaths: 14% of all accidents occur there. 16% of all accidents happen on planes, trains or boats. But only .001% of all deaths occur in worship services in Church, and these are usually related to previous physical disorders. Hence, the safest place for you to be at any time is at Church!!!
