First Reading

Revelation 7:2-4. 9-14

A reading from the book of the Apocalypse

I saw an immense crowd, beyond hope of counting, of people from every nation, race, tribe and language.

I, John, saw another angel rising where the sun rises, carrying the seal of living God; he called in a powerful voice to the four angels whose duty was to devastate land and sea, 'Wait before you do any damage on land or sea or to trees, until we have put the seal on the foreheads of the servants of God.' Then I heard how many were sealed: a hundred and forty-four thousand, out of all the tribes of Israel.
After that I saw huge number, impossible to count, people from every nation, tribe and language; they were standing in front of the throne and in front of the Lamb, dressed in white robes and holding palms in their hands. They shouted loud, 'Victory to our God, who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!' And the angels who were standing in a circle round the throne, surrounding elders and four animals, prostrated themselves before the throne, and touched the ground with their foreheads, worshipping God with these words, 'Amen. Praise and glory, wisdom and thanksgiving, honour and power and strength to our God for ever and ever. Amen.'
One of the elders spoke, and asked me, 'Do you know who these people are, dressed in white robes, and where they are from?' I answered him, 'You can tell me, my Lord.' Then he said, 'These are people who have been through great persecution, and they have washed their robes white again in the blood of the Lamb.'

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 23:1-6. R. see v.6

Lord, this is the people that longs to see your face.
1. The Lord's is the earth and its fullness, the world and all its peoples.
It is he who set it on the seas; on the waters he made it firm.
2. Who shall climb the mountain of the Lord? Who shall stand in his holy place?
The man with clean hands and pure heart, who desires not worthless things.
3. He shall receive blessings from Lord and reward from the God who saves him.
Such are the men who seek him, seek the face of the God of Jacob.

Second Reading

1 John 3:1-3

A reading from the first letter of St John

We shall see God as he really is.

Think of the love that the Father has lavished on us, by letting us be called God's children; and that is what we are. Because the world refused to acknowledge him, therefore it does not acknowledge us. My dear people, we are already the children of God, but what we are to be in the future has not yet been revealed; all we know is, that when it is revealed, we shall be like him because we shall see him as he really is.
Surely everyone who entertains this hope must purify himself, must try to be as pure as Christ.

Gospel Acclamation

Matthew 11:28

Alleluia, alleluia!
Come to me, all you that labour and are burdened,
and I will give you rest, says the Lord. Alleluia!

Gospel

Matthew 5:1-12

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew

Rejoice and be glad, for your reward will be great in heaven.

Seeing the crowds, Jesus went up the hill. There he sat down and was joined by his disciples. Then he began to speak. This is what he taught them:

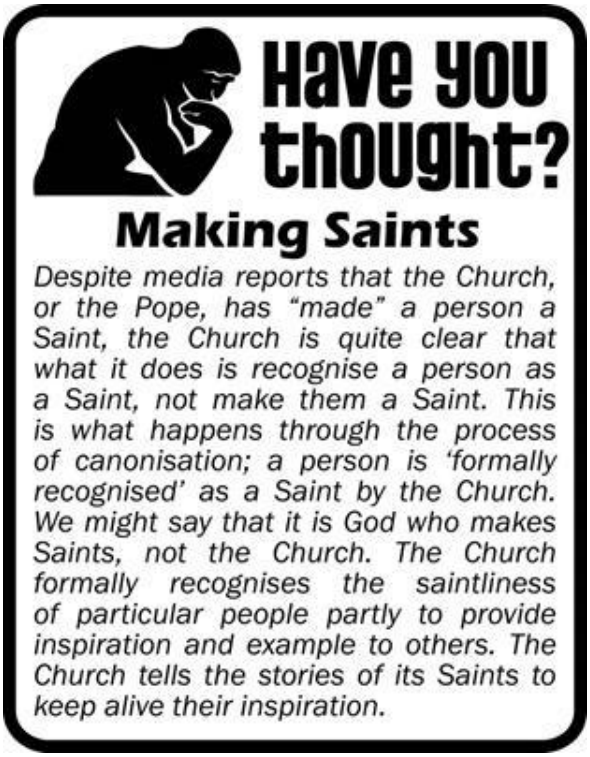

‘How happy are the poor in spirit:
theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
Happy the gentle: they shall have the earth for their heritage.
Happy those who mourn: they shall be comforted.
Happy those who hunger and thirst for what is right:
they shall be satisfied.
Happy the merciful: they shall have mercy shown them.
Happy the pure in heart: they shall see God.
Happy the peacemakers: they shall be called sons of God.
Happy those who are persecuted in the cause of right:
theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

‘Happy are you when people abuse you and persecute you and speak all kinds of calumny against you on my account. Rejoice and be glad, for your reward will be great in heaven.’

Communion Antiphon

Matthew 5:8-10

Blessed are the clean of heart, for they shall see God.
Blessed are the peacemakers,
for they shall be called children of God.
Blessed are they who are persecuted for the sake of righteousness, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Gospel reflection

Saints are sometimes regarded as 'Catholic superheroes'. Stories of miraculous and remarkable deeds abound, though more in the vein of conversions and cures than speeding bullets and tall buildings. But to get caught up on the Saints of the stained-glass windows is to overlook the vast majority of saints. You see, a saint is anybody whose soul is in heaven. The Church celebrates a certain number of Saints whose lives provide a glimpse of God for the rest of the Church. But there are many, many more saints whose glimpse of God was only ever experienced by their family, friends and those with whom they worked. The feast of ALL Saints is an opportunity to remember and reflect on the lives of those saints who've been known and loved by just a few and whose sphere of influence was such that they will never be recognised as Saints by the universal Church. Today's gospel, the Beatitudes, from the Sermon on the Mount describes perfectly those 'lower case s' saints we celebrate on this feast day. The Beatitudes are sometimes referred to in parallel with the Ten Commandments. However, the Beatitudes are not 'rules' or 'instructions' for life as the Commandments are. They are more in line with a strategy that today we would call 'positive reinforcement'. They celebrate those who respond to God's call through particular attitudes towards life and towards others. Jesus presents them to the disciples and the crowd as images to inspire imitation. They're not hard and fast rules for life, but attitudes for life; the Be-Attitudes, so to speak. Those who live with these attitudes in this life are to be celebrated – 'Happy are you' – for they will be saints. They will be welcomed into communion with God in heaven.

Scriptural context – Kingdom Attitudes

Unlike the Ten Commandments, which describe the rules for life on earth for the ancient Jews, the Beatitudes describe the character or attitudes of people of the Kingdom of God. Like the many Kingdom parables that appear later in this gospel (esp. chapter 13), the Beatitudes present an image of what the Kingdom is like without an explicit explanation of the Kingdom. By praising and honouring the attitudes of the Kingdom, Jesus paints a picture of what life could be and should be like if we choose to live in the Kingdom of God.

Living the gospel – Calling on the Saints

Saints play an important role in the devotional life of many Catholic people, but it is a role that causes some confusion for other traditions. Whilst all prayer is directed to God, sometimes that prayer may be directed through one of the Saints or a Saint is called upon to pray on behalf of the petitioner. Images of people kneeling before statues of Saints has led to a misconception that Catholics pray to Saints, rather than to God through the Saint. The Litany of the Saints, with its 'Pray for us' response, calls on the Saints to intercede for us

Pope to Assisi Peace Meeting: 'May we be unarmed instruments of God's peace'

In a video message sent to participants in the International Meeting for Peace in Assisi, Pope Leo XIV urges all participants to join him in being "unarmed instruments of the Lord's peace," stressing that "war can never be waged in the name of God."

By Deborah Castellano Lubov

"War can never be waged in the name of God. For us believers, 'to fight in the name of religion means attacking religion itself.' There is no such thing as a holy war: only peace is holy."

Pope Leo XIV shared this powerful reminder in a video message he sent Tuesday to participants in the International Meeting in the Spirit of Assisi, organised by the Community of Sant'Egidio. The theme of the 3-day meeting that concludes today in the Umbrian hilltown where St. Francis was born was "Unarmed and Disarming Peace."

'I would have very much liked to have been with you'

The Pope began by recalling that the participants had gathered in the town of St. Francis forty years after the World Day of Prayer for Peace, held on 27 October 1986, which was initiated by Saint John Paul II. Following that first historic meeting, Pope Leo said that his predecessor called for us to "continue to live the spirit of Assisi." The Pope greeted the organizers, the Patriarchs, religious leaders, and Franciscans who have actively taken part in the various days of prayer and dialogue. "I would very much like to have been with you at the tomb of Saint Francis on this important anniversary, to see your faces and bear witness together to the fact that living as brothers and sisters is already possible!"

Need to cultivate 'Spirit of Assisi'

Precisely in these times marked by a "culture of power," Pope Leo noted, "there is a need to cultivate the spirit of Assisi, which entails a rejection of the religious justification of war, a spirit of mediation and dialogue, and contemplative reflection combined with creative action in the service of a future of peace." In this context, the Holy Father insisted that peace may once again become "the common ideal of all peoples, the guiding star for all our choices, the standard that exposes injustice, and the shared horizon for all." "We must rebuild peace everywhere, not prepare for more wars," he stressed, reiterating that God's name can never be manipulated to try to justify war. The journey that began in Assisi as a shared quest for peace, he explained, is, first and foremost, "the path of prayer."

Prayer may seem 'weak,' but is humble strength

"Prayer may seem weak in the face of the powers of the world," Pope Leo acknowledged, "but it is the humble strength of believers." Thus, he appealed, "Let us turn to God, the giver of peace, that he may touch the hearts of those who seek war and terrorism. Let us not forget that prayer is never in vain." Emphasizing that the world needs dialogue, the Pope said that "the path of Assisi calls religious leaders to foster a climate of dialogue amongst the faithful and within society, so that the language of arrogance may give way to the language of peace, negotiation and understanding," in order to "gradually lead humanity away from the cycle of violence." Finally, Pope Leo expressed the hope that "may our prayers obtain from God that peace for the world's nations for which we long," praying that the Lord "make us unarmed instruments of His peace."

BEING CATHOLIC

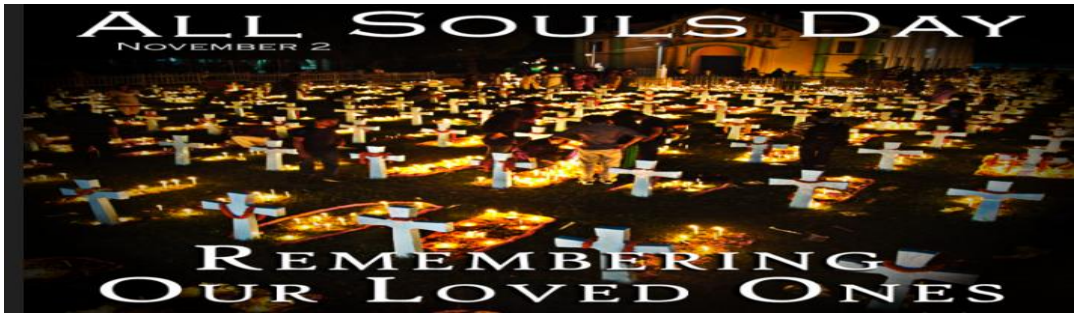

Jokes of the Week

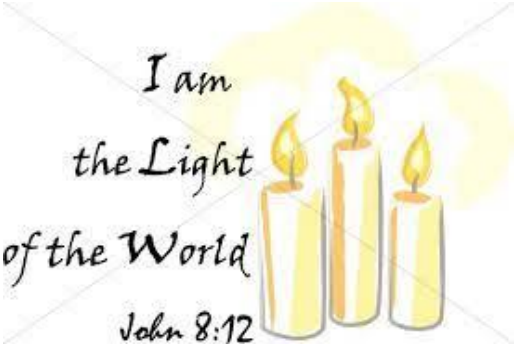

1) "Both of us are Halloween!": Two little neighbor girls about the same age, one Christian and one Jewish, were constant companions. After one Easter holiday, the grandfather of the Christian girl asked her what her friend had received for Easter. The girl looked at her grandfather in surprise, and said, "But Grandpa, you should know that Becky is Jewish and she wouldn't get anything for Easter." Then she went on to explain patiently, "You see, I'm Easter and she's Passover. I'm Christmas and she's Hanukkah." Then with a big smile, she added, "but I'm really glad that both of us are Halloween."

2) A Saint - There were two evil brothers. They were rich and used their money to keep their ways from the public eye. They even attended the same church and looked to be perfect Christians. Then, their pastor retired and a new one was hired. Not only could he see right through the brothers' deception, but he also spoke well and true, and the church started to swell in numbers. A fund-raising campaign was started to build a new assembly. All of a sudden, one of the brothers died. The remaining brother sought out the new pastor the day before the funeral and handed him a check for the amount needed to finish paying for the new building. "I have only one condition." he said. "At his funeral, you must say my brother was a saint." The pastor gave his word and deposited the check. The next day at the funeral, the pastor did not hold back. "He was an evil man" he said. "He cheated on his wife, abused his family, swindled his friends and the poor..." After going on in this vein for a small time, he concluded with "But, compared to his brother, he was a saint."

OCT 31ST - ALL HALLOWS EVE

Commonly celebrated as an evening of ghosts and ghouls, scary looking costumes and trick or treating but what are we celebrating? All things Dark? As Christians we have a choice, we can either celebrate this night as a night of darkness or stand with Jesus as the light of the world, and celebrate October 31st as All Hallows Eve, as a night of light.

VERSES TO CONTEMPLATE

Jn 1: 1-9, 3:19-21. Jn 12: 27-36, 12: 44-46, 1 Jn 1:5-7, Mt 5: 14-16, 1 Pr 2: 9-10, 1 Thes 5: 3 -5, 2 Cor 4: 3-6, 6:14-18

All hallows eve can be part of a special three-day holy celebration in which we can contemplate, pray, attend mass and create new and meaningful catholic traditions in our parishes and families. We can honour God by Worshipping Jesus as the light of the World, by recognising his light in the lives of the Saints who reflected him to all of those around them, and by acknowledging and praying for all souls who have died in the faith, that they may receive his mercy, be reunited into his loving arms and live eternally in his light. There are some great resources online with lots of ideas for families and kids, as well as further information about these days.

Helping Our Parish Flourish

There are so many wonderful things happening at St Macartan's—people coming together in faith, friendship and service, supporting one another and reaching out to our wider community. While much of this is made possible by the generosity of our volunteers, everything we provide has a cost. From the everyday expenses of keeping our doors open to supporting our ministries and maintaining our buildings, our parish relies on ongoing financial support.

Fundraising activities such as our cake stall help make these good works possible. Every cake donated, purchase made and helping hand offered contributes to the life of our parish and the services we can provide.

Thank you to everyone who bakes, buys, volunteers or contributes. Your generosity helps St Macartan's remain a welcoming, caring and active parish.

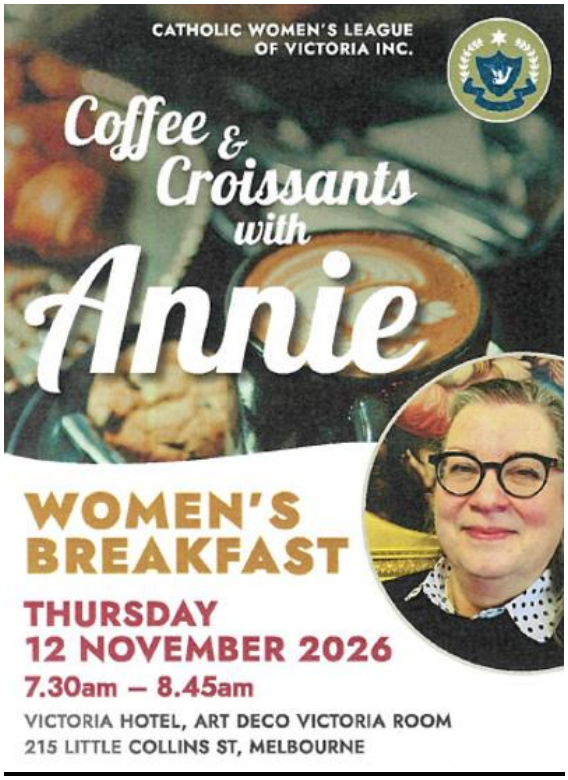

I could Bearly believe it - it rained all day. But it didn't matter!

The Teddy Bear's Picnic was another great success.
I want to thank all who helped on the day and all who came and participated.
A special thanks to Livvi,
who entertained all with her own stories and songs.
Well, done all – you are a Blessing

Pope invites youth to bring wounds, dreams to Seoul as WYD registration opens

Next year's World Youth Day is not a sightseeing excursion but an opportunity for Catholic youth to deepen and renew their faith, Pope Leo XIV said. The 41st World Youth Day set to take place on 3–8 August 2027, in Seoul, South Korea. Inviting young people to come to Seoul, Pope Leo said it was 'not merely an invitation to see a new city' but a 'call to set out on a pilgrimage of faith, friendship and hope'. 'A pilgrimage gives you the chance not only to discover Christian sites in another location, but also to find the time and space to encounter God more deeply, both personally and within the dynamic life of the Church,' he said. According to the WYD 2027 registration website, registration for packages that include lodging will close 31 May 2027, to allow the organisers to assign accommodations, while packages that do not include lodging can be registered after that date. In his message, the Pope said young people will meet peers from around the world who represent 'a beautiful and rich variety of languages and cultures'. Despite their differences, he added, youth will experience 'an even greater sense of unity, for we are all members of the one body of Christ. 'This occasion, therefore, will be a special opportunity both to deepen your faith and to encounter your brothers and sisters in Christ, and I hope you will make joyful memories and form friendships that will last a lifetime,' he said.

We are privileged to have some parents who will be taking some children. But they could use some funding support. If you feel generous. Please contact me. Fr Geoff email: Geoffrey.mcilroy@cam.org.au

Bishops encourage Catholic voters to put faith into action at upcoming Victorian election

Ahead of the 2026 Victorian election, (28th Nov) the bishops of Victoria have issued an election statement highlighting key issues for Catholics to consider when deciding their vote. Catholic voters are invited to read the statement and prayerfully discern how their votes can contribute to the common good.

https://melbournecatholic.org/news/bishops-encourage-catholic-voters-to-put-faith-into-action-at-upcoming-victorian-election

'There is no Catholic political party,' the bishops write in Faith in action: An election guide, nor is there 'one required way for Catholics to vote'. 'In making a decision, we may consider the record, policies and guiding values of candidates and political parties. Our faith calls us to support those who seek to govern in ways that advance the common good, protect the vulnerable and build a just society in which all people can truly flourish.' In the statement, the Victorian bishops—Archbishop Peter A Comensoli of Melbourne, Bishop Gregory Bennet of Sale, Bishop Mark Freeman of Ballarat and Bishop René Ramirez RCJ of Sandhurst—encourage people of faith to base their voting decisions on the four key principles of Catholic Social Teaching: human dignity, the common good, subsidiarity and solidarity.

As Catholic voters reflect on the policies of various political parties and candidates, the bishops invite them to consider how each policy might 'uphold the human dignity of every person', 'promote and advance the common good', 'support subsidiarity' and 'foster solidarity, especially with those who are vulnerable, disadvantaged or excluded'.

The election guide also outlines a number of 'key policy matters' that, from a Catholic perspective, deserve careful attention: freedom of religion and conscience; the place of faith communities; respect for life; the family; the care and protection of children; education and just support for our schools; health care; justice and social services; our common home; economic management; and artificial intelligence.

Guide us in our deliberations, that we elect representatives who will work tirelessly to pursue the common good.

Recognising the important role of prayerful discernment in determining our voting choices, the guide concludes with a prayer for Victoria and the upcoming election. Thanking God for 'the freedoms we enjoy in Australia', the prayer entrusts 'our state of Victoria and all who live within it' to God, asking him to 'guide us in our deliberations, that we elect representatives who will work tirelessly to pursue the common good' and praying that 'all those standing for election' be given 'wisdom, courage and genuine commitment to the service of others'.
