First Reading

Acts of the Apostles 1:1-11 A reading from the Acts of the Apostles

Why are you standing here looking into the sky? Jesus has been taken into heaven.

In my earlier work, Theophilus, I dealt with everything Jesus had done and taught from the beginning until the day he gave his instructions to the apostles he had chosen through the Holy Spirit, and was taken up to heaven. He had shown himself alive to them after his Passion by many demonstrations: for forty days he had continued to appear to them and tell them about the kingdom of God. When he had been at table with them, he had told them not to leave Jerusalem, but to wait there for what the Father had promised. 'It is,' he had said, 'what you have heard me speak about: John baptised with water but you, not many days from now, will be baptised with the Holy Spirit.' Now having met together, they asked him, 'Lord, has the time come? Are you going to restore the kingdom to Israel?' He replied, 'It is not for you to know times or dates that the Father has decided by his own authority, but you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you, and then you will be my witnesses not only in Jerusalem but throughout Judaea and Samaria, and indeed to the ends of the earth.' As he said this he was lifted up while they looked on, and a cloud took him from their sight. They were still staring into the sky when suddenly two men in white were standing near them and they said, 'Why are you men from Galilee standing here looking into the sky? Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven, this same Jesus will come back in the same way as you have seen him go there.'

A Responsorial Psalm

(R.) God mounts his throne to shouts of joy: a blare of trumpets for the Lord.

1. All peoples, clap your hands, cry to God with shouts of joy! For the Lord, the Most High, we must fear, great king over all the earth. (R.)
2. God goes up with shouts of joy; the Lord goes up with trumpet blast. Sing praise for God, sing praise, sing praise to our king, sing praise. (R.)
3. God is king of all the earth. Sing praise with all your skill. God is king over the nations; God reigns on his holy throne. (R.)

Second Reading

Ephesians 1:17-23

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Ephesians

He made Jesus to sit at his right hand in heaven.

May the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, give you a spirit of wisdom and perception of what is revealed, to bring you to full knowledge of him. May he enlighten the eyes of your mind so that you can see what hope his call holds for you, what rich glories he has promised the saints will inherit and how infinitely great is the power that he has exercised for us believers.

This you can tell from the strength of his power at work in Christ, when he used it to raise him from the dead and to make him sit at his right hand, in heaven, far above every Sovereignty, Authority, Power, or Domination, or any other name that can be named, not only in this age, but also in the age to come. He has put all things under his feet, and made him, as the ruler of everything, the head of the Church; which is his body, the fullness of him who fills the whole creation.

Gospel Acclamation

Matthew 28:19. 20

Alleluia, alleluia!

Go and teach all people my gospel.
I am with you always, until the end of the world.
Alleluia!

Gospel

Mark 16:15-20

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Mark

The Lord Jesus was taken into heaven and is seated at the right hand of God.

Jesus showed himself to the Eleven and said to them, 'Go out to the whole world; proclaim the Good News to all creation. He who believes and is baptised is saved; he who does not believe will be condemned. These are the signs that will be associated with believers: in my name they will cast out devils; they will have the gift of tongues; they will pick up snakes in their hands, and be unharmed should they drink deadly poison; they will lay their hands on the sick, who will recover.'

And so the Lord Jesus, after he had spoken to them, was taken up into heaven: there at the right hand of God he took his place, while they, going out, preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the word by the signs that accompanied it.

Communion Antiphon

Matthew 28:20

Behold, I am with you always,
even to the end of the age, alleluia.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The ceiling in the Church above the altar and in the annex, will be getting painted, so those sections of the Church will be closed off for two weeks.

Weekday Masses will continue, as will Saturday night 6pm and Sunday 5pm, as all have less than 180 people and we can still use the original section of church and the choir loft.

However on Sunday 26th May and Sunday 2nd June there will be

NO 9am or 11am Masses in the Church.

Instead, they will be held at the St Macartan's School Hall, 97 Bungower Rd.

Same times: 9am and 11am.

LIVING THE GOSPEL

Proclaim Good News

Francis of Assisi is credited with saying, 'Preach the gospel at all times and when necessary, use words!' In every interaction we have we say so much about who we are, what we think of the other person and what we believe – even without opening our mouth. Our actions and attitudes proclaim our beliefs more powerfully than our words ever do. If we claim to be concerned about justice and yet behave unjustly then it is our actions, not our words, that will be heard! When we are called to 'proclaim the Good News' we are called to do this first and foremost in action.

Gospel Reflection

This passage makes up the concluding verses of the Gospel of Mark. Actually, literary criticism of the Mark gospel suggests that the original gospel ended at 16:8 with the women fleeing from the empty tomb in fear. Verses 9-20 appear to be a later addition to the gospel. The community in which this gospel was written expected Jesus to return within their lifetime and so the dramatic and suspenseful conclusion of the gospel at the discovery of the empty tomb makes perfect sense. However, it soon became apparent that Jesus' return was not going to come as soon as the believers had hoped and so the post-resurrection appearances and the commissioning to continue on with Jesus' work became much more important. If we were to read this passage literally, we would believe that to be a Christian one had to be able to perform exorcisms, speak in tongues, handle snakes, drink poison and heal by touch. If this were literally true, I guess there wouldn't be too many Christians around today! Rather, the purpose of the passage is that Jesus sends his followers out 'to the whole world' to continue his ministry. It is the 'whole world' to which they are sent; not just their cosy little corner of the world but the whole world. It's what Christian people for the last 2,000 years have been called to do: continue Jesus' ministry to the whole world. It's what each and every one of us is called to do today: 'proclaim the Good News to all creation'. That doesn't mean standing on street corners with a Bible in our hands but it means proclaiming the Good News through our everyday actions and by being open and honest about our faith. It means treating all people as Jesus would.

Different View – Snake handlers and Faith healers

There are certainly Christians who interpret literally Jesus' description of the signs that will be associated with believers. We have all seen images of old Revivalist meetings where people were called forth to be healed by touch and have evil spirits driven from them. Much of this practice can be traced to this week's gospel. The many evangelical churches and the tele-evangelists who dominate our early morning television screens operate out of this tradition and generally have a very literal interpretation of scripture. It is based in a belief that God acts in the world through miraculous intervention rather than through the slow and steady presence of individuals like you and me.

Pope Francis pens preface to book on 'Conversation in the Spirit'

Pope Francis offers the preface to a new book, entitled "The Conversation in the Spirit - The art of discernment and the practice of synodality," by Jesuit Fathers Juan Antonio Guerrero Alves and Óscar Martín López, which is published by the Vatican Publishing House (LEV) on April 30.

By Pope Francis

Dear brothers, thank you for sharing this book with me before it's published. From what you say in the introduction regarding its genesis, I see that Óscar was able to pull his partner away from the world of economics in which we had stuck him in this house, to return him to more spiritual themes. It is beautiful that a book on conversation in the Spirit was born from the spiritual conversation between its authors. Although the discussion is mainly focused on the conversation in the Spirit, which is the methodology adopted in the synodal path, I really appreciate that you did not stop at the method and its functioning. I appreciate that you provide the reader with sufficient historical references to grasp the depth of this method and everything it brings into play in order to truly transform itself into an experience of listening to the Spirit. You point out that the synodal method is a spiritual experience, in which words and listening aim to ensure that the Holy Spirit is the true protagonist. The unrolling of the book gives us the opportunity to realize that the synodal path that we have undertaken as a Church constitutes a personal, community and an ecclesial spiritual experience, individual work of each of conversation as channel" deserves to future. In fact, this con-lows different points of that common thread. A in city and ecclesiasti-good. In the conversa-participatory path ori-

and the renewal of the mission, which encourages the participation of all and welcomes in communion and unity the great diversity that we all are. Conversation in the Spirit, discernment and synodality consist, above all, in listening. The synodal path undertaken by the Church is a path of in-depth listening. The attitude you suggest, of "open and vulnerable listening", is fundamental and very necessary, in fact it allows the Spirit to move us and make us change, to make us choose and to lead us to concrete decisions. If everyone remains locked in the positions they had previously adopted, there will be no true conversation, nor true listening to the Spirit. He/she will not find anything that he/she can learn or assimilate from others and will be afraid of any decision that involves changes. In fact, it is only when we truly listen to each other that we emerge enriched and deepen our communion and mission. The chapter on interior dispositions seemed particularly essential to me. As I have said on more than one occasion, our intention is not to convene a parliament or even to carry out an opinion poll. We want to walk together as sisters and brothers, listening to the Holy Spirit. He is the true protagonist of the Synod. Listening to the Spirit requires a certain internal attitude. Conversation in the Spirit, discernment and synodality can only take place if we try to empty ourselves to fill ourselves with the Spirit, if our freedom loosens our material, ideological and emotional moorings, allowing the Spirit to guide us more effectively; if we cultivate within ourselves attitudes of humility, hospitality and welcome, and at the same time we ban self-sufficiency and self-referentiality. Only in this way can our communion and our mission be strengthened. You dedicate the last chapter to the concrete way to conduct the conversation in the Spirit. You explain the method, the way of conducting it, the aspects that require particular attention. This chapter should not be read as if it were the culmination of the book. Every method is a means to an end, not the end. The Instrumentum laboris also refers to the need to adapt the method to various situations, so that it is truly helpful. The importance of the previous chapters consists precisely in allowing the methodology to be prepared and applied well.

and therefore requires the one within himself. The idea "pouring into a common be further developed in the ception of conversation al-view to be brought to enrich greater dose of conversation cal life would do us great tion in the Spirit we find a ented towards communion

A BLESSING FOR MOTHERS

Loving God,
as a mother gives life and
nourishment to her children,
so you watch over your Church.

Bless these women,
that they may be strengthened
as Christian mothers.

Let the example of their faith
and love shine forth.

Grant that we,
their sons and daughters,
may honour them always
with a spirit of profound respect.

Grant this through Christ our Lord.

Jokes of the Week

1: The Ascension mission to preach the Gospel: After attending a convention led by Billy Graham a woman wrote to him. "Dear Sir, I feel that God is calling me to preach the Gospel. But the trouble is that I have twelve children. What shall I do?" The televangelist replied: "Dear Madam, I am delighted to hear that God has called you to preach the Gospel. I am even more delighted to hear that He has already provided you with a congregation in your own home!"

2: "We're in heaven already!" The story is told about a priest who, talking about heaven in his homily, said: "We bring nothing with us when we die. There is no money in heaven! People in heaven have no money!" The whole congregation was quiet, till a little girl whispered to her mother loud enough for all to hear: "Mama, mama, we're in Heaven already!"

#3: And after death ascend or descend? A teenager was once asked:

At the end of school what do you want to do? I want to do my VCE. After your VCE what do you want to do? – I want to go to college. After college what do you want to do? – I want to get a job. Then what do you want to do? – I want to make big money. What do you want to do after making money? – I want to build a big house. After that what do you intend to do? – I want to get married. What will you do after getting married? – I will have a family. What will you do after having a family? – I will retire. What do you want to do after you retire? – I want to take a rest. What will you do after taking a rest? – I don't know. Will you die? – Oh yes, I will die too. What will happen after death? – I am not sure!

Parish Footy Tipping Competition

After another tough Round for most in a Round with the third highest ever total attendance of AFL football. Geoff Walsh has been joined in our competition lead by Mel Fisher. They are 3 in front of Delina, Nathan, Peter, Tessa, Maree and Spencer. Our best tippers were Delina Franks and Tahlia Jolly who both tipped 7/9.

This week a ruckman was in the news. Essendon ruckman Todd Goldstein became the first ruckman to achieve 10,000 hit outs in his career a week after Scott Pendlebury became the first player to achieve 10,000 possessions in his career. Don't statisticians record so much information? At the MCG they even have their own box which is next to the radio commentators' boxes in the Ron Casey Media Centre.

Men's Night

Men of St Macartan's, our next meeting will be on Thursday 16th May at 5.00pm in the Community Centre. Although the nights are getting cold, you can't beat the warm friendship of fellow comrades at our monthly get together. So come along and enjoy the night. Tasty food provided, and don't forget to BYO. All for $2 donation

The Three Amigos

Hello Friends and Parishioners,

My messages are far and few between these days, so I will try and cover what I feel is important to pass on to you.

We have a new cabinet in the Gift Shop making it easier for you to access all goods available on display. We will continue to display new stock on the table outside the Gift Shop for you to browse over on your way into and out of Mass. I am inviting those who sit in the annex to just pop in and see the beautiful items we now have available for you the Parishioners when required. People travel from miles away to purchase from our Gift Shop and we are all proud to be able to assist them.

May is the Month of the Blessed Virgin Mary: Our Lady of Fatima – 1st Apparition – 13th May -----Mother of the Church 20th May ---- Our Lady Help of Christians 24th May ----- Visitation of the Blessed Virgin Mary 31st May. We will have a table to commemorate the Blessed Virgin. I personally couldn't resist, purchasing the 40cm plaster statue of the Miraculous. It looks amazing in our home

The most popular items we are continually ordering weekly for sold orders would be the Miraculous Sterling Silver Medals, some gold plated in small, medium and large. Weekday and Sunday Missals are always popular along with Rosary Beads. It doesn't matter that we have inherited Rosary Beads from our Grandparents, our Parents and from others along the way; it just seems we feel the need to update with all the beautiful styles that are currently available.

If you are looking for something that we don't have in stock, please ask. I do my utmost to fill all requests.

Unfortunately with family commitments it is very hard to open the Gift Shop on a Tuesday. If anyone requires anything urgently please do not hesitate to call me and I can arrange a time to meet you there when convenient.

Take care and God Bless.

THANKSGIVING CAMPAIGN - COMING!

In the coming weeks, we will commence our Offertory Giving Campaign in our parish community, which will run over a three-week period. Giving generously is a way to deepen our faith and is a vital part of our identity as Christian worshippers. You are encouraged to engage prayerfully with the content presented and provided over this time and we look forward to growing and going deeper in our relationship with Christ through this process.

Personalized Pledge Packs can be found in the church foyer— they are arranged alphabetically based on Surnames.

There are also blank packs available if you would like to start donating.

More information will come in the following weeks, including how to fill out the information and returning the packs to the office.
