First Reading

Exodus 19:2-6

A reading from the book of Exodus

You will be a kingdom of priests, a consecrated nation.

From Rephidim the Israelites set out again; and when they reached the wilderness of Sinai, there in the wilderness they pitched their camp; there facing the mountain Israel pitched camp.

Moses then went up to God, and the Lord called to him from the mountain, saying, 'Say this to the House of Jacob, declare this to the sons of Israel, "You yourselves have seen what I did with the Egyptians, how I carried you on eagles' wings and brought you to myself. From this you know that now, if you obey my voice and hold fast to my covenant, you of all the nations shall be my very own, for all the earth is mine. I will count you a kingdom of priests, a consecrated nation."

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 99:2-3. 5. R. v.3

(R.) We are his people:
the sheep of his flock.

1. Cry with joy to the Lord, all the earth.
Serve the Lord with gladness.
Come before him, singing for joy. (R.)
2. Know that he, the Lord, is God.
He made us, we belong to him,
we are his people, the sheep of his flock. (R.)
3. Indeed, how good is the Lord, eternal his merciful love.
He is faithful from age to age. (R.)

Second Reading

Romans 5:6-11

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Romans

We have been reconciled to God through the death of his Son; we are saved by his life.

We were still helpless when at his appointed moment Christ died for sinful men. It is not easy to die even for a good man – though of course for someone really worthy, a man might be prepared to die – but what proves that God loves us is that Christ died for us while we were still sinners. Having died to make us righteous, is it likely that he would now fail to save us from God's anger? When we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, we were still enemies; now that we have been reconciled surely we may count on being saved by the life of his Son? Not merely because we have been reconciled but because we are filled with joyful trust in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have already gained our reconciliation.

Gospel Acclamation

Mark 1:15

Alleluia, alleluia!
The kingdom of God is near;
repent and believe the Good News!
Alleluia!

Gospel

Matthew 9:36 – 10:8

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew

He summoned his twelve disciples, and sent them out.

When Jesus saw the crowds he felt sorry for them because they were harassed and dejected, like sheep without a shepherd. Then he said to his disciples, 'The harvest is rich but the labourers are few, so ask the Lord of the harvest to send labourers to his harvest.'

He summoned his twelve disciples, and gave them authority over unclean spirits with power to cast them out and to cure all kinds of diseases and sickness.

These are the names of the twelve apostles: first, Simon who is called Peter, and his brother Andrew; James the son of Zebedee, and his brother John; Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus; Simon the Zealot and Judas Iscariot, the one who was to betray him. These twelve Jesus sent out, instructing them as follows:

'Do not turn your steps to pagan territory, and do not enter any Samaritan town; go rather to the lost sheep of the House of Israel. And as you go, proclaim that the kingdom of heaven is close at hand. Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out devils. You received without charge, give without charge.'

Communion Antiphon

Psalms 26:4

There is one thing I ask of the Lord, only this do I seek:
to live in the house of the Lord all the days of my life.

Scriptural Context

The House of Israel

The gospel passage has Jesus telling his newly commissioned apostles to go only to the House of Israel, not to go to Samaritans or into pagan territory; the ministry of the apostles is only to be addressed to Jews. But this is the first part of a two-phase ministry. At the conclusion of the gospel, the Risen Jesus directs his followers to 'make disciples of all the nations'. For the Matthew community, (unlike the community of Luke) it was the House of Israel that needed renewal first before the message of Jesus could be taken to gentile and pagan communities.

Gospel reflection

The portrait of Jesus that is painted by the gospel of Matthew is as the one who has come to fulfil the Jewish tradition. This is sometimes incorrectly interpreted as being anti-Jewish but that is not the case at all. The community for whom Matthew was writing were Jewish Christians and they saw the pathway taught by Jesus as the best way to live out the Jewish tradition. It is in this context that today's gospel passage must be considered. The way the commissioning of the Twelve begins is very significant: 'When Jesus saw the crowds he felt sorry for them because they were harassed and dejected, like sheep without a shepherd.' This is the gospel writer describing the people of Israel as a whole – harassed and dejected and without a shepherd. For the Matthew community, Jesus was that shepherd the Jews needed. But Jesus also knew that one person alone could not bring about the change within Judaism that was required. He chose the Twelve and named them as apostles (those who are sent) to continue the work that he had begun. The gospel writer describes Jesus as giving the apostles 'authority' over unclean spirits. For the Matthew community, authority was a defining question. They had recently been expelled from the Jewish synagogues and the authority of Jesus had been called into doubt. Yet, for this community, real authority lay with Jesus and those whom he sent out to do his work. Throughout this gospel, Jesus is described as exhibiting 'authority' so as to reaffirm to the original community that they were right in choosing to follow the way of Jesus and not bend to the authority of the Jewish leaders who were oppressing them.

Have you thought? – The labourers are few

This passage is often used as the basis for sermons, conversations or even marketing about vocations – vocations to religious life as well as lay vocations. The image of a rich harvest with not enough labourers to reap the harvest is a powerful one. In the Western world in particular today it is very true of priestly and religious vocations. However, it is equally true of lay vocations. Too few people are prepared to 'own' their faith and live the message of the gospel in their day to day work and interactions with others. In what way are you a labourer in the harvest?

Living the Gospel – Apostles, not disciples

There is a lovely distinction in this gospel passage between disciples and apostles. Jesus calls his twelve disciples, commissions them and sends them out to continue his work. From then on, they are referred to as 'apostles'. Disciples are followers, but apostles have been sent out. In our own lives we are called to accept the challenge of being apostles, not disciples. For we are not just followers, we have been sent out by Jesus to continue his work. To be a disciple is just the first step. Disciples follow a path; apostles take the initiative and forge their own path.

Pope in Barcelona: "We are made for the infinite"

At a prayer vigil in Barcelona, Pope Leo encourages young people to embrace their spiritual restlessness, trust in God's presence amid suffering and mental illness, and view forgiveness not as a single act but as a gradual journey of healing and reconciliation. By Vatican News

At a prayer vigil with young people at Barcelona's Lluís Companys Olympic Stadium on Tuesday evening, Pope Leo responded to three testimonies touching on conversion, mental health, suffering, violence, and forgiveness. Addressing a newly baptised young man, Ferran, who spoke of the emptiness he experienced despite pursuing success and recognition, the Pope said that such restlessness is not something to be feared but embraced. "We are made for the infinite", he said. "That is why every finite horizon, every step, every achievement - while satisfying us - also propels us forward and invites us to keep searching". Pope Leo warned against what he described as the "idolatry of profit and performance" and the "cult of self-image", calling them "anesthetics designed to numb our conscience and mold it to a certain vision of society".

Instead, he encouraged young people to cultivate silence and interiority amid a culture of constant distraction. "Look within", he urged. "Try not to be overwhelmed by the pace of life and external temptations. Cultivate moments of silence, perhaps pausing for a few minutes each day to read the Gospel and speak with God".

From night into light

Following the dialogue with the young people, Pope Leo delivered a homily centred on the figure of Nicodemus, describing every person as a "pilgrim in the night", searching for meaning, truth and love amid life's uncertainties. "We are beggars for love; we are truly hungry and thirsty", he said. "We seek a deeper meaning that will sustain us, inspire us, and help us understand the mystery of our lives".

The Pope then reflected on the reality that every human being experiences moments of darkness, confusion and doubt, both in life and in faith. Yet rather than seeing these moments as signs of failure, he invited those gathered to view them as opportunities for renewal.

"Nicodemus teaches us that these nights - which accompany our lives, our journey of faith, and the history in which we live - are a time of blessing, a place for rebirth, a womb that always gives birth to new life", he said. Pope Leo then went on to note that darkness can strip away the masks people wear and reveal what is essential, creating what he called an "empty space" where God can bring about transformation. "The 'empty space' that night creates, even when it takes the form of suffering or dissatisfaction, of disillusionment or unbelief, can be an opportunity to receive new life, to change and be renewed."

Drawing then on the Gospel account of Jesus' encounter with Nicodemus, the Pope stressed that God does not approach humanity with condemnation, but with the desire to save and restore. "For this reason, we too are called not to judge the 'nights' - neither the nights of our own lives, those of the Church, nor those of the society around us", he said. Turning his gaze to contemporary Spain, Pope Leo invited the faithful to reflect honestly on the challenges facing society, including poverty, social division and cultural change, asking what kind of future they wish to build together. "This country may then be a welcoming space for all, where each person's dignity is respected and everyone loved for who they are", he said. Bringing his homily to a close, the Pope encouraged all those present and following from afar to continue searching for God with openness and trust, confident that the light of the Gospel can lead them "from night into light".

Children's Liturgy of the Word

Children's Liturgy of the Word is held every Sunday during the 11.00am Mass. All primary school-aged children are warmly invited to join us as we explore the Sunday Gospel and readings in a way that is engaging, meaningful and age-appropriate.

Parents are welcome to accompany and support their child if they wish.

We are also seeking additional volunteers to assist with this important parish ministry. If you enjoy working with children and would like to help share the Good News with our young parishioners, please contact the Parish Office for more information.

Dear Parishioners,

Thank you for your generosity last weekend to the SVDP Appeal. A total of $3,910 was donated.

This parish amazes me. You are always ready to give to help others who are less fortunate.

The people we are helping struggle to make ends meet. Most are on parenting or disability pensions. Rents continue to rise, the cost of food is increasing, children need new shoes, and the list goes on.

We are very grateful for the food that donors leave in our bins at the church and at local supermarkets, which helps keep our costs down. Thank you, parishioners, for your continued support.

ENLIVEN

This youth group was aimed at Primary School aged youth and was borne from Encounter. The name changed, because Encounter was more widely used by our Archdiocese for their Youth Association and we wanted to avoid any confusion.

But Enliven has not been very successful. Even when it was here as Encounter, when it was held on Sunday afternoons. It was shrinking, as youth sports and other events took precedent.

With Enliven moving to midday Sundays it just hasn't worked - Yet! And I do mean Yet.

So right now Enliven will be suspended until a later date, when there is more interest.

So, let us support where we can all youth in our congregation to help them be involved and participate where they can.

If there is more interest and you want a Primary school aged youth group, please speak with myself or Tim or Jody and let us see what can be done.

The demographic of our congregations is changing and more and more young families are joining us, and that is a great sign for a healthy future.

OUR PARISH HISTORY

Australia.

The solemn blessing and opening of St. Macartan's Church, Mornington (Vic.) was performed by his Grace the Archbishop of Melbourne on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 20, assisted by the Rev. W. O'Hagan, pastor, and Rev. R. O'Dempsey, S.J. The new church, which is dedicated to St. Macartan, is situated in Brake-street, on a fine elevation overlooking Hobson's Bay.

This year we continue to celebrate and share the rich history of St Macartan's Parish. One of the most significant milestones in our story occurred on Sunday, 20 February 1910, when the original St Macartan's Church was solemnly blessed and officially opened.

More than 115 years later, we remain the beneficiaries of the vision and sacrifice of those early parishioners. Their dedication laid the foundations for the vibrant parish community we enjoy today. As we gather for worship each week, we remember with gratitude the generations who came before us and entrusted St Macartan's Parish to future generations.

"Unless the Lord builds the house, those who build it labour in vain." – Psalm 127:1

Jokes of the Week

1. "Now he carries it under his coat!" Zeke, mountaineer, went to a revival and was "converted." Later his wife was asked if she noticed any change in Zeke since he supposedly got religion. She said, "Well, before he carried his jug of whiskey on his shoulder when he walked down town, but now he carries it under his coat."

2. God's Missionary People: "At a Pentecostal revival in Sevierville, Tennessee, a barber was 'saved.' The preacher told him that since he was a barber and got to meet a lot of people, he could do a great work for the Lord if he would talk to them about religion and salvation. When he asked how he could get into a conversation like that with his customers, the preacher said, 'Just do it casually. Talk to them about their soul, ask if their house is in order, if they are prepared to die, and so on.' The first man to come in the next day wanted a shave; so the barber put a hot towel over him, talking about the weather and what-not, and then after he had lathered the man up good, he figured it was time to get down to the religion part. He grabbed up his razor, stropped it a few times, pointed at the man, and said bluntly, 'Brother, are you prepared to die?' The man jumped up and ran out of the barbershop with the lather still on his face."
