PENSIERO DOMENICALE

Cosa capita al sale quando si mette nel cibo? Si scioglie e il cibo diventa più saporito. Un'altra domanda: "Cosa succede ad una candela quando l'accendiamo?" Si consuma per fare luce per quelli che sono nella stanza. Il Signore oggi ci dice: "Voi siete il sale della terra". Si aspetta da noi che amiamo gli altri in modo altruista, come il sale che si scioglie nel cibo.

Called to be salt & light

Matthew's short Gospel today gives us responsibility to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world. Salt, useful as an additive, brings flavour and preserves, and we become salt of the earth through active participation and service in our community.

Light by itself can blind us but it is useful when it enables us to see other things better. As light of the world we should light up consciences, minds and hearts.

So, how are we salt and light? Isaiah points out some ways: when we show mercy, compassion and a practical love for others which meets their everyday needs for food, shelter and friendship. Other ways of being salt & light arise from the courage to correct the sinner, instruct the ignorant, counsel the doubter, comfort the sorrowful, bear wrongs patiently and forgive all injuries. It is a wonderful gift to absorb some of the pain of the world, resisting the temptation to retaliate or strike back.

We are all called to be salt & light, to affect not only the physical condition of others but also their spirit, their soul and their mind. Do I possess the courage and generosity to do this?

Fr. Phil
